

Biogas Workshop for Operators Offered In-Person, Livecast Online, and On-Demand

For this month's workshop, "Odor Management At Anaerobic Digestion Facilities," organized by the American Biogas Council and BioCycle Magazine, in addition to the in-person offering, TTC staff will offer this event live, online and will also archive the workshop so it's available online for any attendees who cannot make it in-person or online.

The subject covered by this workshop is most relevant to biogas system operators and operations managers. Since biogas systems create biogas 24/7, it can be hard for operations employees to leave the site. After surveying many operators and operations managers, operators told us they would be happy to register, but wanted to be able to attend the workshop whenever it was convenient, not necessarily on the offered day, April 4.

Making the workshop available on demand took about the same amount of effort as offering it live, so staff decided to offer both options to learn the best way to reach the intended target audience for future training courses.

To see the full agenda for the 1-day workshop and to register to view, live or online, click here:

<https://ttcorp.regfox.com/biocyte-workshop-3-odor-management-at-anaerobic-digestion-facilities>