

TTC Hires Technical Engagement Manager

Technology Transition Corporation is pleased to announce that David Bancroft has been hired as TTC's Technical Engagement Manager, providing technical support to TTC's biomass clients. David has a broad range of experience in government, non-profit, and renewable energy over 30-year career. He has served in Executive roles in multiple environmental and energy non-profits, including the Council for Environmental Affairs, Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay, Environmental Business Action Coalition, American Consulting Engineering Council, Solar Energy Industries Association, the Council of Great Lakes Governors. Additionally, he was Director of Washington DC Relations for the University of Wisconsin Foundation. He is also the author of Obama Green, an examination of President Barack Obama's environmental leadership and policies implemented during his administration. He has also been appointed to numerous environmental Boards by the Governor of the State of Maryland.

Concurrent with his role with TTC, David will serve as Technical Engagement Manager to the Biomass Thermal Energy Council (www.biomassthermal.org), a 501(c)6 non-profit organization managed by TTC. He will also serve as TTC's chief point of contact for biomass and all related fields in addressing technical questions and projects.
